

Smart Horizons Launches New Independent Living Skills Program

Smart Horizons, a leader in the creation and delivery of innovative online training, announces the launch of its Independent Living Skills program.

Pensacola, FL (PRWEB) May 27, 2011 -- Smart Horizons, a leader in the creation and delivery of innovative online training, announces the launch of its Independent Living Skills program. Designed to serve as a valuable educational tool for community outreach organizations and agencies, as well as meeting the needs of the individual learner, Smart Horizons' new Independent Living Skills program offers training in five important areas:

- Health & Leisure (Nutrition; Personal Hygiene; Lifestyle; Medical Needs; Alcohol, Drugs & Tobacco; Safety; Relaxation)
- Financial Management (Money Knowledge; Saving/Banking; Consuming; Taxes; Budgeting; Credit; Consumer Education)
- Career/School (Planning; Employment; Education; Resume and Interview; Work Skills; Study Skills)
- Relationships (Communication; Cultural awareness; Community; Sexuality; Personal Development)
- Life Skills (Decision making; Home management; Transportation; Housing; Dining; Legal Issues)

Smart Horizons' Independent Living Skills program provides thorough, comprehensive training that addresses a broad range of critical issues in each of these five areas. Whatever goals and requirements need to be met, including those mandated by the legal system, the Independent Living Skills program is designed to meet or exceed those needs.

In addition to the consistency provided by Smart Horizons' content/design excellence, this new program also offers students the flexibility of 24/7 online access, and Smart Horizons' state-of-the-art Nexport reporting technology allows tracking of student progress on a daily, weekly or monthly basis.

Smart Horizons' Independent Living Skills program has broad applications for foster care programs, guardian ad litem advocates, truancy courts, offender populations, case workers, social workers, judges, CASA volunteers, and more.

“We originally developed Independent Living Skills for young adults in foster care settings,” said Douglas Peterson, Director of Smart Horizons. “However, as we talked with social services case workers and the judiciary that deal with mandated training requirements, we quickly realized that these skills have a much broader application for youth in transition programs.”
